1. Persuasive, because even though I'm the one who gives ideas, I influence people positively.
2. Josiah Alan Brooks, also known as Jazza, is an artist who doesn't stick to 1 material. From yarn to paper, clay to chocolate, real life to digital, drawing apps to music apps; he never sticks to 1 material. He may return to a challenge, but you don't know when or what it will be. He likes to sell his art to risk his future or for charity. He wants to make people laugh, sometimes it's dark humor, but it does the job of making them chuckle. Started by making music, now one of the most popular artists on YouTube. He likes to collaborate with people... with a twist.